3 What is personal data?

Personal data is any information that tells us something about you. This could include information such as your name, contact details, date of birth, and references.

4 How do we collect personal data?

We collect personal data about you from various sources including:

- from you when you contact us directly through the application and recruitment process;
- from other people when we check references or carry out background checks – if we do this we will inform you during the recruitment process of the exact checks that are carried out.

5 What personal data do we collect?

We collect the following categories of personal data about you:

- Personal contact details such as name, title, address, telephone number and personal email addresses
- Date of birth
- Equal opportunities monitoring information such as gender, race, ethnicity, religion, health and sexual orientation
- Recruitment information (including copies of right to work documentation, qualifications, references and other information in your CV or cover letter or otherwise provided as part of the application process)
- Information about criminal convictions and offences committed by you

6 How do we use your personal data?

We use your personal data for the following purposes:

- To make decisions about your recruitment and appointment
- To check you are legally entitled to work in the country where the job is located
- To assess your qualifications for a particular job or task
- To conduct data analytics studies to review and better understand job application rate
- To carry out equal opportunities monitoring
- For fraud and crime prevention purposes
- To deal with legal disputes

We do not take automated decisions about you using your personal data or use profiling in relation to you.

7 What is the legal basis that permits us to use your personal data?

Under data protection legislation we are only permitted to use your personal data if we have a legal basis for doing so as set out in the data protection legislation. We rely on the following legal bases to use your personal data for employment/engagement related purposes:

- Where we need your personal data to enter into a contract with you.
- Where we need to comply with a legal obligation.

- Where it is necessary for our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.

The Table at the end of this notice provides more detail about the personal data that we use, the legal basis that we rely on in each case and your rights.

Some personal data is classified as "special" data under data protection legislation. This includes information relating to health, racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, sex life, political opinions, biometric data, genetic data, sexual orientation and trade union membership. This personal data is more sensitive and we need to have further justifications for collecting, storing and using this type of personal data. There are also additional restrictions on the circumstances in which we are permitted to collect and use criminal conviction data. We may process special categories of personal data and criminal conviction information in the following circumstances:

- In limited circumstances with your explicit consent, in which case we will explain the purpose for which the personal data will be used at the point where we ask for your consent.
- We will use information about your physical and mental health or disability status to comply with our legal obligations, including to ensure your health and safety in the workplace.
- We will use information about your race or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs, your sexual life or sexual orientation to ensure meaningful equal opportunity monitoring and reporting – the legal basis of this processing is that it is in the public interests to carry out diversity monitoring.

8 What happens if you do not provide the personal data that we request?

We need some of your personal data in order to conduct the recruitment and selection process. If you do not provide such personal data, we may not be able to continue with the recruitment process or offer you employment/engagement. We explain when this is the case at the point where we collect personal data from you.

9 How do we share your personal data?

We share your personal data in the following ways:

- Where we use third party services providers who process personal data on our behalf in order to provide services to us. This includes recruitment agents and IT systems providers.
- We will share your personal data with third parties where we are required to do so by law or to comply with our regulatory obligations.
- With other entities in our group as part of our regular reporting activities and in the context of a business reorganisation or group restructuring exercise.
- If we sell any part of our business and/or integrate it with another organisation your details may be disclosed to our advisers and to prospective purchasers or joint venture partners and their advisers.

Where we share your personal data with third parties we ensure that we have appropriate measures in place to safeguard your personal data and to ensure that it is solely used for legitimate purposes in line with this privacy notice.

10 How do we keep your personal data secure?

Information is only stored on company central file share and recruitment information systems which are restricted through the use of access rights and controlled on a need to know basis.

We will ensure access to personal data is restricted to employees working within our group on a need to know basis. Training will be provided to any employees working within the group who need access to your personal data to ensure it is secured at all times.

11 When do we transfer your personal data outside the UK and European Economic Area?

When personal data is transferred to countries outside of the UK and the European Economic Area those countries may not offer an equivalent level of protection for personal data to the laws in the UK. Where this is the case we will ensure that appropriate safeguards are put in place to protect your personal data.

[We will not send your personal data outside of the European Economic Area, unless you apply for a job at our office in Turkey, in which case your personal data will be shared with local HR and the hiring manager(s) for the purpose of progressing your application.]

12 For how long do we keep your personal data?

As a general rule we keep personal data about candidates for the duration of the recruitment and selection process and for a period of 3 years after candidates have been notified whether their application has been successful. However, where we have statutory obligations to keep personal data for a longer period or where we may need your personal data for a longer period in case of a legal claim, then the retention period may be longer.

13 Your rights in relation to your personal data

You have a number of rights in relation to your personal data, these include the right to:

- (a) be informed about how we use your personal data;
- (b) obtain access to your personal data that we hold;
- (c) request that your personal data is corrected if you believe it is incorrect, incomplete or inaccurate;
- (d) request that we erase your personal data in the following circumstances:
 - (i) if we are continuing to process personal data beyond the period when it is necessary to do so for the purpose for which it was originally collected;
 - (ii) if we are relying on consent as the legal basis for processing and you withdraw consent;
 - (iii) if we are relying on legitimate interest as the legal basis for processing and you object to this processing and there is no overriding compelling ground which enables us to continue with the processing;
 - (iv) if the personal data has been processed unlawfully (i.e. in breach of the requirements of the data protection legislation);

- (v) if it is necessary to delete the personal data to comply with a legal obligation.
- (e) ask us to restrict our data processing activities where you consider that:
 - (i) personal data is inaccurate;
 - (ii) our processing of your personal data is unlawful ;
 - (iii) where we no longer need the personal data but you require us to keep it to enable you to establish, exercise or defend a legal claim;
 - (iv) where you have raised an objection to our use of your personal data;
- (f) request a copy of certain personal data that you have provided to us in a commonly used electronic format. This right relates to personal data that you have provided to us that we need in order to take steps to enter into a contract with you and personal data where we are relying on consent to process your personal data;
- (g) object to our processing of your personal data where we are relying on legitimate interests or exercise of a public interest task to make the processing lawful. If you raise an objection we will carry out an assessment to determine whether we have an overriding legitimate ground which entitles us to continue to process your personal data;
- (h) not be subject to automated decisions which produce legal effects or which could have a similarly significant effect on you.

If you would like to exercise any of your rights or find out more, please contact talent@openpayd.com. The table at the end of this notice provides more detail about the personal data that we use, the legal basis that we rely on in each case and your rights.

14 Complaints

If you have any complaints about the way we use your personal data please contact Talent Acquisition Team at talent@openpayd.com who will try to resolve the issue. If we cannot resolve your complaint, you have the right to complain to the data protection authority in your country (the Information Commissioner's Office in the UK).
